DIRECTORY AND INDEX OF
SPECIAL MUSIC COLLECTIONS IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA LIBRARIES
AND IN THE LIBRARIES OF THE CAMPUSES OF THE
UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

Compiled by the
Music Library Survey Committee

Stephen M. Fry
Chairman and General Editor

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA CHAPTER
MUSIC LIBRARY ASSOCIATION

1970

PREFACE

The project of compiling the directory and index was undertaken by the Music Library Survey Committee, Southern California Chapter of the Music Library Association in response to discussion which ensued at a chapter meeting in December of 1968.

The directory is designed to refer scholars in the field of music directly to music collections of a unique or special nature located in Southern California and also on all campuses of the University of California. If the directory can prevent duplication of expensive and rare music materials in several libraries, or can aid in the selection of supplementary special materials by faculty members or librarians, our motives for undertaking the project will have been fulfilled.

The information in the directory was obtained from questionnaires which were sent to virtually every library in Southern California. The Survey Committee wishes to thank the many libraries which participated enthusiastically in the project and which returned informative and fully-completed questionnaires. Information in the entries for major libraries which did not return questionnaires was derived from a personal evaluation of the libraries. Smaller libraries not returning questionnaires were not included in the listings.

The problems the Survey Committee faced in this project inevitably resulted in misinformation and omissions. It would be extremely helpful if these errors were brought to the attention of the SCMLA Publications Committee in order that corrections may be incorporated in future editions. Users should be aware that the size of the library in question is of great significance in considering the special areas of music listed, what areas may actually exist without listing, and how extensive the holdings in areas of concentration really are. For example, when a special concentration in piano music is listed for a small library, a large university library may have 3 times their holdings of piano music without a "special collection" in the medium. Thus, common sense and intuition must be applied in the proper use of the directory.

The scope of the directory includes public, college, and university libraries, as well as those in museums, film studios, theological seminaries, and the collections of private individuals. For the purpose of this directory, Southern California includes the area south of Santa Barbara. All campuses of the University of California are included because of their extensive holdings in music and their special communications and interlibrary loan facilities.

A set of six commonly used references to Southern California libraries and music collections are included in abbreviated form with the entries to which they apply in the directory. Sources describing particular collections or areas of music are given in full in the entries. For a basic list of publications which deal with music collections and research facilities in the U. S., including California, please refer to Rita Benton's Directory of music research libraries. Part 1: Canada and the United States (Iowa City, University of Iowa, 1967).
